Read the following passage and answer the following questions based on the given passage. The inflation devil is back and at the wrong time. The 7.35% rise in consumer price inflation in December is a shocker even to those who were prepared for an elevated level of inflation in the backdrop of the rise in prices of food commodities in general, and the astronomical rise in the price of onions, in particular. The disturbing December print has set off fears over whether India is entering a period of slow growth accompanied by high inflation, in other words, stagflation. Such fears have to be weighed against a few facts. First, the headline inflation number is driven mainly by food inflation at 14.12% ? it was 10.01% in November and -2.65% in December 2018. While onion was the prime villain pushing up price inflation in vegetables to a huge 60.50% compared to December 2018, (a) 16% (b) 10% (c) 15% (d) 8.33% (e) 12.5% 78. (x ? 6) women worked for (y ? 6) days and (x ? 6) men worked for (y ? 10) days then in what time remaining work will be completed by (x ? 6) children.

- (b) The MPC is expected to announce the consecutive rate cut to boost economic activity amid benign inflation.
- (c) both

82. Which of the following situations can be related with STAGFLATION, as mentioned in above passage?

- (a) General decline in the prices of goods and services in an economy, which in turn increase the purchasing power of money.
- (b) Rising food prices caused by increased demand for agricultural commodities.
- (c) An economy experiencing falling productivity along with workers becoming more inefficient; leading to increased costs and reduced output.
- (d) None of these
- (e) All of the given situations are correct

83. Which of the following is not true in context of the information given in the above passage?

- (a) The increase in core inflation has not been as high as increase in CPI inflation
- (b) During the December monetary policy review, RBI had largely left the rates fluctuating.
- (c) Addressing the issues that led to inflation in food commodities can marginally reduce the intensity of burden created by the current situation.
- (d) both

Read the following passage and answer the following questions based on the given passage. For years, the government of Bhutan has enshrined gross national happiness as its guiding light. Though national leaders had long eschewed traditional economic metrics like gross domestic product in favor of a more subjective understanding of development, in 2008, the country's constitution formally established that ensuring a good quality of life for the people of Bhutan would be its primary aim. GNH would be the measure of the country's progress, quantified by a complicated index based on areas of psychological well being, cultural diversity and resilience, education, health, time use, good governance, community vitality, ecological diversity and resilience and economic living standards—an array of factors that might all together quantify well-being and happiness. Sperling said, economists and policy makers too often set their sights on certain goals—high GDP and low unemployment—that can disregard how Americans actually feel. To re-center economics in people's lived experiences, Sperling proposed the adoption of a different goal: dignity. Economic dignity would mean being able to care for your family and enjoy the most meaningful moments of family life, without economic deprivation taking away those most meaningful moments, Sperling said. By Sperling's criteria, he said, America is failing on all three fronts. Even as the unemployment rate in the United States is hovering near a 50-year low, the country has no universal paid-family-leave requirement to ensure that new parents have time to spend with their infant children or to heal after birth. No law grants employees bereavement leave with which to mourn loved ones and begin to piece their lives back together in their absence. The federal minimum wage falls beneath the poverty line for families of two or more. Officially, about 13 million Americans—and likely more unofficially—have to work multiple jobs to make ends meet. The U.S. also fails to provide adequate support for people who have lost their jobs, Sperling said, and adequate resources with which to find new ones. Students are taking on crippling debt to go to college. In 2017, 12.3 percent of Americans were living in poverty. Together, Sperling observed, that adds up to millions of Americans living without what he defines as economic dignity: unable to provide a basic quality of life for themselves and the people they love, enduring unfulfilling or downright exploitative work conditions out of a desperate need for money. And with the nation's economic mobility in sharp decline over the past few decades, many workers and their families could remain mired in that state for generations. But Americans can fight for greater economic dignity, Sperling said, arguing that many already are: By unionizing; pushing for a higher minimum wage; Visit: adda247.com lobbying for better leave, child-care, and health-care policies; and demanding action against workplace sexual misconduct, they're working to claim more of what he put forward as the base necessities for all working people. Policies to promote dignity could take a number of different forms, he said. But that's the right way to look at it, Sperling said, as an array of options. Don't make the means the end, he emphasized. Happiness is the end goal. So try asking why people are unhappy—and work from there.

84. What is author's view regarding minimum wage policy as a measure of economic stability of country?

- (a) None of the given statements is correct
- (b) American citizens have achieved a higher economic stability
- (c) GNP, as used in Bhutan has been an inefficient and inaccurate way to assess economic stability
- (d) With minimum wages policy, Americans enjoy higher access of civil rights
- (e) The benefits achieved under GNP regimes are higher than those where governments have introduced minimum wage policy

85. What can be the possible inference drawn from the statement 'Happiness is the end goal?', as highlighted in the above passage?

- (a) ensuring universal basic income will promote happiness within countries, which is the primary goal of every country
- (b) dignity should not be framed as a metric to fulfill happiness
- (c) author has considered happiness as the highest priority and countries must find means to achieve it for overall development
- (d) the GDP a country must be given due attention to achieve the overall happiness of the citizens
- (e) none is correct

86. What have been the measures suggested by Sperling to achieve economic dignity?

- (a) giving due attention to health and child care facilities within a country
- (b) assurance of provision of basic necessities
- (c) higher amount of minimum wages must be ascertained
- (d) both

87. The author is in line with

- (a) Economists believe that GDP and higher per capita income is necessary for economic growth
- (b) Gross National Happiness and quality of life are necessary aims for any economy
- (c) Although GNH is premised on the idea of overall psychological well-being, the significance of governance is undermined
- (d) The developed nations have been successfully providing support for the unemployed but are still lagging in GNH
- (e) All are correct

Read the following passage and answer the following questions based on the given passage. Conversations about the role of flexible working have shifted. It's no longer enough for companies to offer employees the option to either work from home or the office. Employees want to work from anywhere. Companies that want to attract and retain top talent, and ensure teams are highly productive, need to adapt their culture and technology to accommodate this shift in attitudes. And this is where the IT department can solidify its role as a valued contributor to the success of a company, by implementing technologies that enable secure and remote collaboration. According to a recently commissioned Polycom survey, 24,000 respondents across 12 countries indicate that nearly two-thirds of today's global workforce take advantage of the anywhere working model. This is a significant shift since May of 2012 when only 14% of employees benefited from remote working. The survey results also provide insights into some of the concerns among companies in moving forward with the anywhere working model. Two significant concerns are a lack of trust and the perception that employees are not working as hard when they are not in the office. Also, among the 45-60-year-old age group, 59% worry that working anywhere will cause them to work longer hours. The fear of being always connected to work and overworking is a significant deterrent for this age group. A good first step for companies to overcome the trust and perception concern is to ensure workers are measured by output and not by the hours they have worked, commonly referred to as 'presenteeism.' Countries like Brazil _____ here with 80% of employees adopting the anywhere working model, and 64% respondents use video to communicate several times a day. When respondents were asked how their companies could improve trust and perceptions with the anywhere working model, the most popular recommendations were to: Equip workers with technology that is easy to use and which connects them to their colleagues; Ensure the same policies are applied to everyone in the business, regardless of seniority or their situation; and Provide guidelines on how to manage working from anywhere. 91% of those surveyed agreed that technology is a key factor in improving relationships and fostering better teamwork. This suggests that investing in the right technologies, in particular video collaboration, to get the most out of individuals and teams can help solve the lack of trust and perception concerns. And this is where the IT department can become a difference maker as they can enact technologies, such as video conferencing, to ensure colleagues can seamlessly collaborate wherever they are. It also gives them

Read the following passage and answer the following questions based on the given passage. The United States plans to put a space workshop into orbit in 1972, the Space Agency announced here [Houston] yesterday. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) said the third stage of the giant Saturn 5 rocket used to send Apollo spaceships to the moon would be used to house the orbiting laboratory and observatory. The project will study man's physiological and psychological responses in the space environment and provide more detailed information on his capabilities for extended manned flight. The workshop is to be fitted out on the ground and will be launched into a 220 nautical mile circular earth orbit. It will be occupied by a crew of three astronauts who will follow in a smaller rocket about a day later. At first, the astronaut-scientists will spend about 26 days in the orbiting workshop, but later visits lasting up to 56 days are planned.
