

16. If 1 is added to each even digit and 2 is subtracted from each odd digit in the number ?32547685?, then how many digits will appear more than once in the new number thus formed?

- (a) One
 - (b) Three
 - (c) Two
 - (d) None
 - (e) None of these

In this question, relationship between different elements is shown in the statements. The statements are followed by conclusions. Study the conclusions based on the given statement and select the appropriate answer.

17. Statements: $M > B$; V ; $C ? B = Z$; $K ? J < Z$ Conclusions: I: $V ? Z$ II: $J < C$

- (a) If only conclusion I is true
 - (b) If only conclusion II is true
 - (c) If either conclusion I or II is true
 - (d) If neither conclusion I nor II is true
 - (e) If both conclusions I and II are true

18. Statements: $Q ? E ? T$; $Y = I < T$; $D > I ? F$ Conclusions: I: $I < Q$ II: $D > Y$

- (a) If only conclusion I is true
 - (b) If only conclusion II is true
 - (c) If either conclusion I or II is true
 - (d) If neither conclusion I nor II is true
 - (e) If both conclusions I and II are true

In the question below some statements are given followed by some conclusions. You have to take the given statements to be true even if they seem to be at variance with commonly known facts. Read all the conclusions and then decide which of the given conclusions logically follow from the given statements disregarding commonly known facts.

24. Statements: Only a few book is copy Some copy is pen No ink is pen Conclusions: I. Some book is not ink II. All copy can never be ink

- (a) Either conclusion I or II follows
 - (b) Only conclusion II follows
 - (c) Only conclusion I follows
 - (d) Both conclusions I and II follow
 - (e) Neither conclusion I nor II follows

25. Statements: Some bank is not money Only a few interest is money Some loan is interest Conclusions: I. Some interest is not money II. Some loan can be bank

- (a) Either conclusion I or II follows
 - (b) Only conclusion II follows

Read the passage given below and answer the following questions. The onset of Covid-19 has brought to a halt an astonishing expansion of restaurants observed in the past decade. But being deprived of restaurants has made people realise how much they value them. Eating out fulfils needs which seem fundamental to human nature. People need to socialise, to seal deals and to peer at their fellow humans. People have long feasted outside the home. Before the use of coal became widespread in England in the 17th century, preparing food at home involved spending a lot on wood or peat. Today dining out is seen as an indulgence, but it was the cheapest way to eat for most of human history. But by the 18th century, capitalism took off, public spaces became sites of rational dialogue which were open to all. Eating out became less of a communal activity focused on calorie intake and more of a cultural experience and a place where people could show off their wealth. By the 20th century, however, cooking at home was becoming ever easier. Average house sizes grew and appliances such as the food processor and the dishwasher reduced preparation and clean-up times. Dining out became relatively more expensive. And yet, a few economic changes ensured that demand for restaurants grew despite rising prices. One of them is immigration. Over the last century the net flow of migrants into rich countries, relative to population, more than quadrupled. Starting a restaurant is a good career move for new arrivals. Migrants also tend to improve the quality of an area's restaurants. Another factor was changing working patterns. Historically poor people have tended to work longer hours than rich ones. But in the latter half of the 20th century the opposite became true. The upshot was that the people with the most money to spend on dining out increasingly needed it most, since they had the least free time. The pandemic has led to many people buying more takeout than before, while others have a newfound love of cooking. That means _____ still further from the utilitarian model of the 18th century and before, and instead ~~drambling down on what they do best~~ offering those who need to eat a taste of romance, glamour, and love.

71. What effect of the pandemic on restaurants has been mentioned by the author in the passage?
