

Read the following passage and answer the questions given below. India's population dynamics (A) have been a subject of extensive debate among policymakers, business leaders, and social commentators. The discussion encompasses concerns about both the rapid increase in numbers and the simultaneous drop in fertility rates, creating a complex demographic landscape that will shape the country's future. One of the most notable trends observed over the past few decades is the steady decline in population growth. The Census data from 2001-2011 showed a population growth rate of 17.70 per cent, down from 21.54 per cent in the previous decade. This marked the slowest growth rate in sixty years. The last time such a low growth rate was recorded (B) was in 1951, when it stood at 13.31 per cent. Experts attribute this decline to multiple factors, including increased urbanization, better access to healthcare, and widespread awareness regarding family planning. A major contributing factor to the declining (C) population growth is the reduction in India's Total Fertility Rate (TFR). Over the 2001-2011 period, the TFR dropped to 2.2 from 2.5 in the previous decade. This indicates that, on average, each couple had fewer children than before. A TFR of 2.1 is considered the replacement level fertility rate, meaning that India is inching closer to a stabilization phase where the number of births is just enough to replace the existing population. However, the declining fertility rate has speculated (D) mixed reactions. While some experts view it as a positive shift toward a more balanced population, others worry about potential future challenges. A rapidly aging population, coupled with a _____ workforce, could impact economic growth and strain social welfare systems. Countries like Japan and some European nations have already faced economic slowdowns due to declining birth rates, and India must prepare for similar challenges. As India moves forward, policymakers must strike a balance between population control and workforce sustainability. Encouraging responsible family planning while ensuring economic stability will be crucial in shaping the nation's demographic future. The coming decades will determine whether India can successfully navigate these shifting population trends.

1. According to the passage, which factor is NOT mentioned as a reason for India's declining population growth? (I) Increased urbanization leading to lifestyle changes and smaller families. (II) Greater awareness and accessibility of family planning measures. (III) Rising unemployment rates discouraging people from having more children.
